THIRD PARTY DEMANDS.

A Review of the Platform, and the Difference Between it and Democratic Doctrine.

REMARKS BY J. H. KELLY.

The Republic is in receipt of so many inquiries concerning the Third Party platform adopted at the Hartford convention in St. Louis that we deem it well to publish the platform and the demands of the platform itself.

The platform itself is a document of some length, and we cannot publish it in full. We will, however, publish the demands of the platform, which are the following:

1. That the Government should be reorganized, so that the Executive, Legislative and Judicial branches should be separated, and each branch should be made independent of the other two.

2. That the Government should be reorganized, so that the Executive, Legislative and Judicial branches should be separated, and each branch should be made independent of the other two.

3. That the Government should be reorganized, so that the Executive, Legislative and Judicial branches should be separated, and each branch should be made independent of the other two.

4. That the Government should be reorganized, so that the Executive, Legislative and Judicial branches should be separated, and each branch should be made independent of the other two.

5. That the Government should be reorganized, so that the Executive, Legislative and Judicial branches should be separated, and each branch should be made independent of the other two.

6. That the Government should be reorganized, so that the Executive, Legislative and Judicial branches should be separated, and each branch should be made independent of the other two.

7. That the Government should be reorganized, so that the Executive, Legislative and Judicial branches should be separated, and each branch should be made independent of the other two.

8. That the Government should be reorganized, so that the Executive, Legislative and Judicial branches should be separated, and each branch should be made independent of the other two.

9. That the Government should be reorganized, so that the Executive, Legislative and Judicial branches should be separated, and each branch should be made independent of the other two.

10. That the Government should be reorganized, so that the Executive, Legislative and Judicial branches should be separated, and each branch should be made independent of the other two.

11. That the Government should be reorganized, so that the Executive, Legislative and Judicial branches should be separated, and each branch should be made independent of the other two.

12. That the Government should be reorganized, so that the Executive, Legislative and Judicial branches should be separated, and each branch should be made independent of the other two.

13. That the Government should be reorganized, so that the Executive, Legislative and Judicial branches should be separated, and each branch should be made independent of the other two.

14. That the Government should be reorganized, so that the Executive, Legislative and Judicial branches should be separated, and each branch should be made independent of the other two.

15. That the Government should be reorganized, so that the Executive, Legislative and Judicial branches should be separated, and each branch should be made independent of the other two.

16. That the Government should be reorganized, so that the Executive, Legislative and Judicial branches should be separated, and each branch should be made independent of the other two.

17. That the Government should be reorganized, so that the Executive, Legislative and Judicial branches should be separated, and each branch should be made independent of the other two.

18. That the Government should be reorganized, so that the Executive, Legislative and Judicial branches should be separated, and each branch should be made independent of the other two.

19. That the Government should be reorganized, so that the Executive, Legislative and Judicial branches should be separated, and each branch should be made independent of the other two.

20. That the Government should be reorganized, so that the Executive, Legislative and Judicial branches should be separated, and each branch should be made independent of the other two.

21. That the Government should be reorganized, so that the Executive, Legislative and Judicial branches should be separated, and each branch should be made independent of the other two.

22. That the Government should be reorganized, so that the Executive, Legislative and Judicial branches should be separated, and each branch should be made independent of the other two.

23. That the Government should be reorganized, so that the Executive, Legislative and Judicial branches should be separated, and each branch should be made independent of the other two.

24. That the Government should be reorganized, so that the Executive, Legislative and Judicial branches should be separated, and each branch should be made independent of the other two.

STORY OF A HISTORICAL DEED.

Pre-eminence among the wonderful old men in this country stands U. S. Senator George W. Jones, of Ohio, who, to-day, at the advanced age of 86, is sound in mind and body, and who, to all appearances, was not more than 60 years of age when he was elected to the Senate.

General Jones, who, by the way, was a drummer boy in the war of 1812, a participant in the battle of Black Hawk war, gave an account to a Washington Post interviewer at a public reception given to him at the residence of the Senator.

When asked to tell of his early life, he said: "I was born in 1806, in the town of Newburgh, New York. My father was a farmer, and I was educated in the common schools of my native town."

When asked to tell of his early life, he said: "I was born in 1806, in the town of Newburgh, New York. My father was a farmer, and I was educated in the common schools of my native town."
